RE: Case Number 00197334

Dear Carlos Rubio Corrales:

Thank you for contacting the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA) Consumer Assistance Center. The NCUA is the independent federal agency that regulates, charters, and supervises federal credit unions. The NCUA operates the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund insuring the deposits of account holders in all federal credit unions and the overwhelming majority of state-chartered credit unions. The NCUA Consumer Assistance Center assists consumers in providing information about federal consumer financial protection and share insurance matters. We also help consumers resolve disputes with credit unions concerning federal consumer financial protection laws and regulations that the NCUA has the authority to enforce.

We appreciate the information you have provided regarding the management and operations of Not A Federally Insured Credit Union. We have determined that this matter does not involve a federal consumer financial protection matter. Therefore the NCUA Consumer Assistance Center is closing the file for your specific complaint. However, going forward and as appropriate, the NCUA will investigate the matter(s) you raised. If as a result of the investigation the NCUA has any supervisory concerns about the credit union's actions, the NCUA will follow-up directly with the credit union to address them.

Please note that we cannot provide legal advice and our determination in this matter does not limit your ability to pursue a private right of action if one exists. To determine such rights, you may wish to consult with private legal counsel.

Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention. The NCUA takes the concerns of consumers seriously.
